Abstract

We are like alphabets that were born and could not compose into a complete word. Parents are like vowels and tones that fulfill our lives to be meaningful. Love are expressed through small and big letters typing as the teaching that parents always guide into the picture of myself. The work is presented through typewriting technique using a typewriter which is the tool of my family for making a living. The resolution means love, attention of the parents who have given me. My work reflects the values of the great love of parents with me.
